

LEAD Scholars Academy

Join us for the LEAD Scholars Academy Orientation session on June 14-15, 2017!

At LEAD Orientation, you will have the opportunity to meet our staff and other Scholars throughout the two days. While it is not mandatory, it is strongly encouraged you try to attend so you can meet your LEAD friends and attend fun socials we hold during that time. The LEAD Scholars Academy does a presentation during the second day of every Orientation for incoming Scholars and their families, so your student will not miss any information as long as they attend that session. You may choose any Orientation session that works for you and family!

How to register for orientation: In order to register for your orientation session, you must first pay your enrollment deposit to the Office of Undergraduate Admissions. Once this has been paid, you are eligible to register for an orientation session. To contact the Office of Undergraduate Admissions please visit <http://www.admissions.ucf.edu> or call 407-823-3000.

Once you register for orientation and submit your orientation payment, the First Year Experience Office will then confirm your orientation date via email that will include an online confirmation packet and parking pass. For more information about orientation please visit orientation.ucf.edu.

What if I cannot attend the LEAD Scholars orientation? No problem! LEAD Scholars will have a special morning workshop for ALL LEAD Scholars on the second day of every orientation offered for first-year students. You will receive the same information about the program whether you attend the LEAD Scholars orientation session or another session offered by the Office of First Year Experience for first-year students.
